I need ammodule that woks well in mobile phone that can be used even with low bandwidth

I need to have this section number one a welcome or landing page can also include the author and details about me, including my picture and then the module itself for productivity.

there will be a forum in the form of discussion trend not still final if I will put it in the website or I will do it in Facebook

so the main content of webpage is about the whole module, consists of lesson, terms and of course the activity

I will put links, they should be clickable and then it will open on the other side this this link include news report, and videos
